

The Sun Rays Collection, Part 2

Early American Paper Money

Welcome to our Fixed Price List #4!

We're pleased to present part 2 of the Sun Rays Collection, featuring 135 lots of early American paper money. The collection covers a broad array of Continental and Colonial currency, and also includes a few later change bills and obsolete notes of the 1789-1815 period. Special emphasis was placed on locating notes featuring motifs related to the Fugio copper coinage. Included are many scarce types, condition rarities, desirable signers, and well-pedigreed items. Hopefully something for the colonial paper beginner and specialist alike.

Thanks, as always, for your interest and support. Enjoy the catalog!

The Sun Rays Collection of Early American Paper Money

112. Carlisle, Pennsylvania. September 5, 1789. One Penny. John Wray and James Lamberton signed. PMG Uncirculated 62 NET. S/N 156. First of a pair of extremely rare notes from this historic and tiny production out of rural Carlisle, Pennsylvania. Authorized in the year of the Copper Panic in order to replace the lightweight coppers plaguing commerce, these small change notes were no doubt made in very small quantities and precious few survive today. Desirable for their history and rarity, but also for their charming design, featuring tomahawks in the border detail on the front and a neat pastoral seen on the back with sun face and rays as well as a liberty cap on a pole. Remarkable uncirculated condition, the grade just slightly held back by an old mounting strip on the right back side. A classic rarity that would make an important addition to any collection of colonial paper or pre-federal copper coins. Has been off the market since it's Stack's auction appearance 11 years ago where it realized $8,050. Ex Stack's 1/2008, lot 4730.....$8,500
